

Zimbali Estate Security

The following are excerpts of information provided by the Estate Management Association:

Within the Estate, there is a full time Security Manager who controls diplomatic-level security with unobtrusive systems and checkpoints, allowing owners and residents the freedom to live 'outwards' without 'inwards' security restrictions. An electrified security fence protects the entire Estate with access points controlled through guarded gates.

The Estate residential areas and the Zimbali Lodge and Country Club are covered by a contract between a security company (guarding and electronic), and the Management Association. A security committee oversees the overall operation of this service.

The Estate is proud of its security arrangements, guarded access gates, electrical fences, close circuit television and patrol guards. Electronically coded remote access discs allow controlled movement for residential members and their guests through the gates and booms.

CanCom ID Tech scanning devices are at every entrance to the Estate and all valid driver's licenses and motor vehicle licenses have to be electronically scanned, before entrance is permitted into the Estate.

Inspectors and security officers are constantly circulating the Estate on foot, using patrol vehicles. In order to upgrade existing equipment and to provide new installations to increase the effectiveness of the existing rigorous security systems.

The main vehicle/pedestrian access control points are manned on a 24-hour basis. This includes the Coastal Forest Estate entrance south of the Estate, the Main gate on the Western side and Northern gate at the Beach Estate. All visitors, Lodge guests, golfers, contractors and some owners enter the Estate via the main gate.

All electronics, cameras, turnstiles on the estate are controlled electronically, as well as CCTV cameras are installed strategically at entry and exit point for constant surveillance by the security control room.
